

Zanna Clay

Durham University, UK

The Evolution of Empathy and Expressions of Emotions: Insights from our great ape relatives

We are delighted and honoured that Zanna Clay, who has worked together with Frans de Waal doing research on emotions and empathy in primates, stepped up very spontaneously to replace her collaborator and share fascinating insights from her research with us.