

Lecture Series “Signatures of World Society”

Migration and Social Transformation: A Complexity Lens

Ronaldo Munck
(Dublin)

© Ronaldo Munck

Tuesday,
29 October 2024
6.15 p.m.
Room X-C3-107

Migration is part of a complex process of social transformation that cannot be studied in isolation. The notion of complexity hinges around the way in which order and chaos inter-relate and which creates a dynamic of change and social transformation. We examine the many myths that cloud the mainstream accounts of migration today and, instead, pose a paradigm shift articulated in the late work of Stephen Castles. A case study of Ireland’s recent conflictual history of migration becoming a key divide under the banner of Ireland is Full follows and we pose the need to always see ‘politics in command’.

This lecture will also be broadcast via Zoom
Meeting-ID: 674 3413 2155 – Passcode: 301974