Preface

Dear friends and colleagues,

as world politics continues to evolve into seemingly ever more complex (and worrying) configurations, our Research Training Group continues analyzing it with its well-established analytical foci on modes of observation and modes of organization.

Half-way through our third cohort of doctoral researchers, the individual dissertations of course are at center stage of our activities. However, many activities beyond that continue being pursued, most notably the collaborative workshop on 'Limitations as Lenses: Identifying Blind Spots in World Politics Studies', scheduled to take place in May.

I wish you all the best, may Spring at least shine a light in these often not too gloomy times.

Best wishes,

Prof. Dr. Mathias Albert
Speaker of the RTG
